

Transform Your Workforce: Building Blocks to a Unified Workspace

Base your IT transformation on these four strong pillars

Innovative technologies are transforming today's businesses and creating more agile and flexible workforces. To successfully transform and boost IT productivity, leading organizations are embracing unified workforce solutions based on strong security, management, support, and deployment capabilities.

Ensuring Strong Security

Workforce transformation requires solutions designed from the start to provide access to data anytime, anywhere and provide the security needed for modern workers and devices

Businesses that have deployed unified workspace solutions are 75% more likely to have strong data and device security capabilities in place

Understand Deployment Needs

Getting the right systems, with the right setup, and the right controls, quickly into the hands of workers leads to a more agile and innovative workforce

With a unified workspace in place, businesses are 2x more likely to deploy IT resources at a faster rate

Unified Management

With unified, end-to-end, and seamless management in place, businesses can reduce complexity and gain key insight into their workforce needs

Leading IT organizations who have a unified and end-to-end management solution in place are 2.5x more likely to see an increase in user satisfaction

Intelligent Support

Providing great support to modern users requires deep insights and proactive analytics to resolve issues before they become a problem. It also means supporting remote workers anytime and anywhere

Businesses leveraging a unified workspace are 4X more likely to improve support of remote workers and 60% more likely to see improved IT productivity

Summary

With strong analytics and reporting that displays all data and provides actionable insights and integration with IT, leading businesses can improve their entire infrastructure.

Aberdeen research has found that businesses that are Best-in-Class in IT management are 40% more likely to utilize a unified workspace. To join these leaders, look for solutions that emphasize the key building blocks to success.
